This event is a benefit for the Pennsylvania Institute for Conservation Education, a 501(c)3 nonprofit educational organization dedicated to advancing awareness, knowledge and skills in natural history and conservation of natural resources by building an ecologically literate and engaged public. All proceeds support the Institute's education programs and its International Intern Program.

Craig Sholley directed Rwanda's internationally-known Mountain Gorilla Project from 1987 - 1990, after which he served as the Scientific Advisor for the award winning IMAX film, Mountain Gorilla. Craig returned to Rwanda in 1995 on assignment with the National Geographic Society surveying the conservation status of mountain gorillas and critical habitat areas in Rwanda, Zaire, and Uganda in the aftermath of Rwanda's civil war. Craig is currently the Director of Development for the African Wildlife Foundation.
