Hi All,

VERY interesting results in the first ever Global Internet Poll on the Environment, conducted by the Andreas Papandreu Foundation of Greece. Over 25,000 responses from 175 countries. The results, including an Excel spreadsheet report and a downloadable PowerPoint presentation you can use in schools, meetings, etc., are available at: www.NetPulseGlobalPoll.com. You might want to bookmark this site, as there is a wealth of info available. Not unexpectedly, the poll shows that the people of this planet are much more concerned about the state of their environment than their governments are. "There go my people, and I must follow, for I am their leader." If we could get our leaders to follow listen to and follow their people, we could make a real impact on these life and death issues.

The Pennsylvania Biodiversity Listserve encourages open discussion about biodiversity issues in the state. It is hosted by the Allegheny Institute of Natural History, University of Pittsburgh-Bradford and is moderated by the Pennsylvania Biodiversity Partnership. The opinions expressed in messages are those of the authors and NOT the Pennsylvania Biodiversity Partnership.
